Neil Blaylock was born in Kempton Park, Zimbabwe and grew up on a farm, winning a Junior Farmer award. 15 years ago, his love of the ocean and desire to see the world brought him to a career in the yachting industry where he's worked on commercial, charter and racing vessels. He strives to achieve the highest level of service, and wishes to pass the knowledge he's gained on to new crew members.

Outside of yachting, Neil is a farmer with more than 180 head of cattle. In his free time, he enjoys fishing, hunting and diving. He is also passionate about the outdoors, wildlife and conservation. His favorite place on the planet is Mana Pools National Park in Zimbabwe, which he describes as the "wildest Africa ever."

Martin Rayno Snyman - Chef

Education/Certifications: Chef Diploma, Silver Service Diploma

Chef Martin Snyman is from the small town of Humansdorp, South Africa and is the youngest of three children. Growing up, he loved playing golf and cooking for his family and friends. He worked at a restaurant that was ranked in the Top 5 in South Africa and in the Top 100 internationally before discovering the yachting industry in 2010. He realized that a career at sea would allow him to travel while learning cuisines from around the world, and has been working on yachts for five years. One day, he would like to open a restaurant that showcases everything he learned while cruising the globe. Of the places he's traveled to date, he finds the beauty of Costa Rica the most enchanting. When not at sea, Martin is still an avid golfer, and is always up for teaching his friends about the new dishes he's created.

Bryan Kattenburg was born in San Francisco, California and raised in the East Bay city of Walnut Creek. In 2011, his love of the water, hatred for offices with cubicles, and a captain that gave him a chance started his career in yachting. He has primarily worked as part of the deck crew up to this point, but plans to become a captain and start a company that services the yachting industry. He loves all land and water sports, including fishing, and is happy to pass those skills on to charter guests. When not at sea, his favorite place to visit is Lake Tahoe for its fresh air, outdoor activities and the sounds of nature.

A dedicated and hard-working team member, she now runs an interior crew of three on M/Y AT LAST. A Deanâs List student throughout her college years, she graduated in 2018 with a Business degree and wishes to eventually pursue her MBA. In her free time, Jamie is an avid reader and is writing a book. She is also a passionate motivational speaker. She once travelled around the U.S. in an RV, and lists New York City as her favorite place for its people and energy, but that could change once she finally visits Europe.

Ashley McCormack is from a small coastal town just outside of Boston, Massachusetts. She spent her most of her childhood playing sports and spending time outdoors, including her summers at camp in Maine. She worked in customer service and as a server before beginning her career in yachting four years ago, drawn by a desire to see as much of the world as possible. She is still very athletic, and her hobbies include running and exploring new destinations. In the future, Ashley believes in living her best life, and hopes to one day continue her education and invest in rental properties.

Katelyn Leanne Pereira â Deckhand / Stewardess

M/Y AT LAST is her second vessel, and her goal is to ensure charter guests have the time of their lives. She also plans to return to school to complete her nursing degree. Katelyn loves reading, swimming, and travelling, and enjoys teaching knitting to others. If she could be anywhere, it would be the Blue Ridge Mountains at sunset when the mountains appear blue against the orange sun.
